Weapon charges lead to denial of liquor license

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

The Sayreville Borough Council has unanimously adopted a resolution denying Fred Leppig, owner of the Malibu Inn, a decades-old establishment on Ernston Road, the renewal of his liquor license due to crimes of moral turpitude. "The governing body decided not to renew the liquor license due to charges brought against him," Mayor Kennedy O'Brien said.

The council voted on the resolution at its public meeting Monday.

The resolution states that the Sayreville Police Department filed an objection to the renewal of the license, and upon request by the council, provided a number of reasons for the objection.

Leppig was reportedly involved in an altercation with a vending company representative around Oct. 2, 2000. The representative attempted to remove a soda machine because Leppig had failed to make his payments on the machine, according to the report. Leppig allegedly pulled a .45-caliber semi-automatic pistol on the representative and with his finger on the trigger, demanded that the representative leave the premises.

Leppig did not rebut the police department's testimony. However, at a hearing before the council, he did "deny that he pointed the gun in question at another (person)," according to the resolution.

In December 2000, Leppig was indicted by a grand jury for possession of a weapon for unlawful purposes in the second degree and for aggravated assault in the fourth degree. Leppig pleaded guilty on April 30 to amended charges, which include one count of possession of an assault weapon in the third degree and two counts of terroristic threats in the third degree. He is currently awaiting sentencing on those charges and has agreed to rid himself of both the liquor license and the bar "as soon as reasonably possible," according to the resolution.

Committees set up to review tax hike

Old Bridge officials split into groups of 3 to meet on budget

BY NATALIE M. VENA
Staff Writer

Old Bridge Township Council President Dennis Maher, a Democrat, has established several council subcommittees to work with department heads to review the 2002 fiscal year municipal budget that was introduced by Republican Mayor Barbara Cannon, last week.

A schedule of meetings is being established to allow each committee, each comprised of three council members, to meet with each of the department heads, Republican Councilman Richard Greene said.

Council members received the budget late last week and said they are determined to look for ways to reduce the increase, although officials said it is too early to determine whether or not the mayor's proposed 6-cent tax rate increase can be reduced.

"The mayor has done a great job in the past, and taxes have remained stable," Greene said. "However, during my last two years as a councilman, I feel my experience on the council will enable me to find a way to provide additional tax relief to the residents."

Greene said he plans to review the expenditure and revenues portions of the budget to try to identify cuts.

"The last two years, the council estimated that more revenue could be expected from court fines and building permits," Greene said. "By increasing revenue projections, we decreased the amount of the tax increase. We proved that two years in a row we were right."

However, Township Finance Director Himanshu Shah said in a press conference last week that a shortfall of $1.6 million in one-time revenues from last year and $787,000 in emergency appropriations that were borrowed from this year's budget, were two of the main reasons for the 6-cent increase. The proposed 2002 budget of $43,203,587 is $2,249,746 higher than the fiscal year 2001 adopted budget.

This year, the township had in excess of $500,000 in building permits from the Home Depot and Lowe's home centers, as well as the Globespan building, which is now under construction. However, the revenues collected by the township will not be available again next year, Cannon said.

After a quick perusal of the budget this weekend, Democratic Councilman Joseph Hoff said he plans to look into two areas in particular.

"I have a problem with the amount of money appropriated for land acquisition and parks development," Hoff said. "Although I'm a little upset about that, it is still too early to judge it. I may still change my mind."

Old Bridge's municipal budget is based on a fiscal-year calendar that begins and ends in July. The council has until September to adopt the budget, after which time it will be forwarded to the state. Last year, a final budget was not adopted until December.

Flags fly again after they're mysteriously returned

Letter in newspaper, sign appear to be responsible for flags' reappearance

BY NATALIE M. VENA
Staff Writer

Flag thieves apparently had a change of heart last weekend as two American flags that were recently stolen from two separate homes in Sayreville and Old Bridge turned up at their owners' homes.

Both flags were returned to their owners safe and sound — one mysteriously reappeared in the neighborhood; the other was placed inside its owner's mailbox.

One of the flag owners, Christa Leslie, of Sayreville, wrote a letter to the editor, which was printed in last week's Suburban, stating that her brand new American flag was stolen from the front of her home sometime between July 7 and 8. In her letter, Leslie stated: "To the person or persons who stole my flag, I hope that you have put it to good use and that someday you learn to respect this symbol and what it stands for. Until then, I hope you feel just a little bit guilty and ashamed."

To Leslie's surprise, the flag was returned to her home by a neighbor.

"A person who lives around the corner from me said that he found the flag draped over a parked car near his home that weekend," Leslie said. "He took it home, dried it out and tried to locate its owner."

After he read Leslie's letter to the editor, he returned the flag, according to Leslie, and it is now flying on the flagpole in front of her home.

After reading Leslie's letter, Old Bridge resident Michele Sulikowski decided to contact the Suburban to report that her flag had also been stolen. Sulikowski discovered that her flag — a sentimental memento given to her family by the Veterans Administration when her father passed away at the age of 74 in 1999 — had been stolen from a flagpole in front of her home sometime between July 13 and 14. Her father, Gerard Gallucci, had served in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

"This flag draped my father's coffin in December of 1999," Sulikowski said. "Since my father was such a supporter of this great country and flew a flag all his life, my mom thought it would be a nice tribute to him to continue to do so with this flag."

Last year, Sulikowski had a flagpole installed on her property on Route 516, and on April 15 of last year, her family gathered to raise the flag on what would have been the 50th wedding anniversary of her parents, Gerard and Marie Gallucci of Toms River.

"My whole family gathered, and we raised this flag with many tears for the first time," Sulikowski said. "Since that date, I continued to fly this flag on special occasions. One would be for my dad's birthday in June and again on July Fourth."

Sulikowski said her mother was devastated after finding out her husband's flag had been stolen.

"When we looked at it, it represented our dad. You can't replace that with a flag bought in a store," she said.

Searching for a way to urge the person or persons who stole the flag to return it, Sulikowski placed a sign on the front lawn of her home, which read "The stolen flag draped my father G. Gallucci's coffin. Please return the flag!"

"The person who stole the flag doesn't know our story. We just wanted it back with no questions asked," she said.

Sulikowski's prayers were answered on Saturday afternoon — the same day

Leslie's flag was returned — when the flag was returned safely to her home. Sulikowski said that her husband found the flag in the mailbox when he went to retrieve the mail. The flag was placed in the mailbox and folded the correct way by an anonymous person.

"You could have knocked me over with a feather when I saw my husband walking up the driveway with the flag in his hands," she said.

Sulikowski spent the next several hours calling her mother and her five brothers and sisters to let them know the flag was returned.

"My mom cried when I told her, and everyone else was in a state of disbelief," Sulikowski said. "It was a bittersweet moment; it opened up everything for all of us. My dad was close to us. I miss him every day of my life."

The flag is flying proudly once again, and Sulikowski said she intends to fly the flag every day until the end of the month. Only this time, the flag will be taken down every night at dusk.

A new sign at the Sulikowski's house now reads: "Thank you for returning my father's flag!"

Community center will be on ballot in November election

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — In a unanimous vote during Monday's public meeting, the Borough Council adopted an ordinance to hold a referendum that will ask voters to authorize building a community center.

The referendum will be voted on during the Nov. 6 general election.

A borough resident questioned the council at the meeting on the need to construct a community center in Sayreville, saying that perhaps officials should consider expanding the existing senior center on Main Street instead.

Mayor Kennedy O'Brien responded saying that the proposed community center has been an idea the recreation board has been working on for some time. It would allow for activities for people of all ages, he said.

O'Brien also said the center would include several basketball courts and other athletic areas the senior center has no room for.

Previously, Councilman John Melillo said the center would include a community-swimming pool, a skate park, a workout area and basketball courts. He also said he hopes the facility could include a place for dancing, where entertainment could be provided for a different age group each night.

Although the council is already in the design stages of the project, the location of the community center has not yet been determined. Melillo said he wants it to be centrally located and easily accessible to all borough residents.

Melillo stressed that the project must be planned well, so that it takes potential population growth in the borough into account, and not become outdated in years to come.

Before the council can move too far ahead on construction plans, however, the residents will have make the decision Nov. 6.

"The time is right for something like this in Sayreville," Melillo said. "We're looking for town support."

Officials push for farmland preservation involvement

Middlesex County has 21 farms for 3,158 acres in the state program

BY NATALIE M. VENA
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — Now that Old Bridge has its first landowner applying for the state Farmland Preservation Program, township officials are hoping more local farmers will follow suit in an effort to help preserve more open space in the community.

At Monday night's council meeting, the Township Council supported a resolution for the application of Ann Miller, who has applied to the state program in an effort to preserve her property of 12.5 acres on Cottrell Road.

Miller, 77, said she hopes other landowners in the township follow her lead and apply for the program.

"I mentioned it to my neighbor, who owns 12 acres next to my property," Miller said. "I hope it is something he considers doing in the future."

The state program received a boost in funding in 1999 after former Gov. Christie Whitman set a goal to preserve 500,000 acres of farmland in New Jersey. In an effort to meet her goal, the Garden State Preservation Trust Act produced nearly four times the amount of available funding for the program than it had in the past.

Since the inception of the Farmland Preservation Program in 1983, some 584 farms have been successfully preserved for agricultural or open space purposes in New Jersey, for a total of 80,611 acres, according to the National Agriculture Statistics report. As of 1998, the most recent year that statistics are available, there were approximately 830,000 acres of farmland in the state.

In Middlesex County, 21 farms have been preserved since 1983, for a total of 3,158 acres, according to Hope Gruzlovic, spokesperson for the state program.

After an extensive review of the township's land area of 39.1 square miles last year by the township's planning office, it was determined that 42 percent of the municipality consists of vacant land and farms.

The study prompted the township and its agencies to support the state program and become an active participant in the program in an effort to stop runaway building in the community and preserve as much open space as possible.

The program enables landowners to sell the development rights on their farmland to the county. When landowners sell their development rights, also known as development easements, they retain ownership of their land but agree to permanent deed restrictions that allow the land to be used for agricultural uses only.

According to Linda Busch, principal planner at the Middlesex County Agricultural Development Board (CADB), the program is a joint effort that is funded by the state, counties and municipalities, with each entity being responsible for paying a percentage of the costs associated with preserving property.

"After a value has been set for an easement purchase, the state will pay for 60 percent of that amount, Middlesex County will pay for 20 percent of that amount, and the remaining 20 percent is paid for by the municipality," said Busch. She added that funding at the local level can vary.

After an application is received by the county from a landowner, it takes more than a year to complete the entire process, Busch said.

"From April through June, we received 12 applications," Busch said. "Each farm was granted preliminary approval last Wednesday by the CADB after it reviewed each application." This fall, Busch said, the application for each farm will be forwarded to the state's Agriculture Development Committee (SADC).

In order to be eligible for the program, farms must be located in an agricultural development area. The SADC prioritizes applications for preservation funding through a ranking system that assigns points for the following: the percentage of high-quality soils; the percentage of tillable acres; suitable boundaries and buffers, such as other nearby preserved farms and open space; the local commitment to agriculture, such as right to farm ordinances and financial commitment; size of the farm and agricultural density of the area; and imminence of development. These quality scores establish the SADC's preliminary priority list for preservation.

The SADC certifies development values for each farm based on independent appraisals conducted by two licensed appraisers and a review by an SADC staff appraiser. Counties hire appraisers from an SADC-approved list.

Once the SADC certifies development easement values through the appraisers, landowners have 30 days to submit their offers. A landowner can improve a farm's ranking on the preliminary priority list by offering to discount, or sell the development easement for less than the certified value. For every 1 percent a landowner discounts, two points are added to the farm's quality score. Landowner offers establish the final priority list for preservation. The number of farms that will be preserved each round depends on available state and county, and sometimes, municipal funding.

Interested landowners in Middlesex County may contact the CADB at (732) 745-4014.

Libertarian candidate wins right to run for Assembly

26-year-old Old Bridge resident running for one of two 13th District seats

BY NATALIE M. VENA
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — Township resident Diane Hittner, who is the Libertarian Party candidate for the state Assembly, 13th district, defeated a Republican Party challenge to her nominating petition on July 11.

Out of the 67 signatures on Hittner's petition for nomination, 12 were deemed invalid by two administrative law judges representing Monmouth and Middlesex counties, leaving her with 55 signatures. Election laws require that prospective candidates have 50 valid signatures.

Five of the remaining 55 signatures on Hittner's petition were also disputed, but unless the GOP challenges those five signatures, Hittner has secured a place on the ballot for the November general election.

"I'm pleased that the 13th District voters will have a real alternative in November," said Hittner, who is 26 and the mother of a 4-year-old son. "Everyone who feels overtaxed and overregulated will have the opportunity to send a message to the politicians and political parties, which have been taking them for granted."

In November, Hittner will be running against Republican Assemblymen Joseph Azzolina and Sam Thompson. The Democratic ticket includes challengers Steven T. Piech of West Keansburg and Kevin Graham of Keyport.

Because the 13th District covers both Old Bridge and Spotswood in Middlesex County and eight northern Monmouth County municipalities, the hearing on her petition was held in both Freehold and New Brunswick.

Hittner said she received a phone call from the state Division of Elections on July 2 stating that the Republican State Committee had challenged her petition because, they claimed, she had insufficient signatures.

The GOP challenged 39 of the signatures, according to Hittner, claiming that 30 were invalid because either they had multiple mailing addresses or they could not be located. Nine signatures, the party claimed, were invalid because of sloppy handwriting.

Six of the names on the petition were questioned because they were not technically accurate, according to Hittner.

"One name was brought into question because the name was signed as Bob when the person's actual name was Robert," she said.

Hittner said the GOP challenge did not slow her down in her pursuit for a campaign bid. She greeted voters at a home-schoolers convention on June 30 at Brookdale Community College, Monmouth County, and on July 13 she participated in a protest in Red Bank against Monmouth County's firearms exchange program.

The firearms exchange program encourages people to turn in their firearms at a specified location in exchange for money from the county, with no questions asked.

"I don't believe in using taxpayers' money to pay people to bring in firearms," Hittner said. "We're getting firearms out of the hands of our next-door neighbors, not criminals. We should not take guns out of the hands of law-abiding citizens."

Hittner said her next step is to set up her own Web site.

Part of her agenda, she said, includes restoring rights to individuals and parents.

"I don't believe in mandatory vaccines for children," Hittner said. "Parents should not be bullied by doctors and schools to vaccinate their children if they do not wish to."

If elected to office, Hittner said her first goal would be to repeal the mandatory hepatitis B vaccine.

"Children are not an at-risk group for contracting hepatitis B," she said.

Another issue involving children that Hittner is concerned about is what she calls the over-diagnoses of children with attention deficit disorder (ADD) and the over-prescription of Ritalin.

"Too many teachers and school officials are diagnosing children with ADD and recommending that they be put on Ritalin, and they are not even qualified to make such a diagnosis," she said.

Hittner said she plans to stand by her party's platform, which encourages personal and economic freedom to all individuals.

"I don't believe in mandatory vaccines for children. Parents should not be bullied by doctors and schools to vaccinate their children if they do not wish to."

Builder set to begin construction

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — The Planning Board, at its July 18 meeting, gave final approval to the second section of the Towne Lake residential development, which will be built at Washington Road and Main Street.

The builder has divided the 260 units proposed to be built in the area into roughly five sections, officials said. The first section of the subdivision had already received approval.

The development will be comprised of single-family homes, according to Planning Board member Frank Bella.

It will include one access point on Main Street and another from Washington Road across from the Green Valley development.

Councilman Jeff Pawlowski said there has been very little public input on the construction; however, the board did receive some complaints while the soil was being compacted. The vibration from the machines and the noise reportedly agitated some of the neighboring residents.

"The original application didn't bring much negative feedback," Pawlowski said.

The proposal to put in the homes has been around for over 10 years, Pawlowski said. Originally, the plan was for 500 units, but that number had been reduced to 260.

The plan for Towne Lake has been before the board for about two years. Construction on the first phases may begin after Labor Day, according to borough officials.

Café Lavareda raided by undercover police

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SOUTH RIVER — Café Lavareda was raided by police July 13 after undercover police officers allegedly witnessed the illegal sale of alcohol and the use of gambling devices.

According to police Detective John Casey, the café is a coffee shop and sold alcohol over the counter without the proper licenses. The café also maintained slot machines for gambling. The machines were surrounded by walls that hid them from the remainder of the premises.

The owner, Antonio Santos, 40, and his wife, Augusta, 41, both South River residents, were arrested that night.

The manager, Alberto Salgado, 54, a resident of Elizabeth, was also arrested.

All three were charged with maintaining a gambling resort, maintaining a nuisance, possession of gambling devices, failure to obtain the licenses necessary to sell alcohol, selling alcohol illegally and various other local ordinance violations.

Bail was set at $5,000 each, according to Casey, and they all posted bail that night.

Café Lavareda has been under investigation by the South River police and the Middlesex County Prosecutor's Narcotics Task Force for about two months. According to police, after receiving complaints from patrons of the café, undercover police went to the premises and were sold alcohol illegally. The undercover officers also played the slot machines in a small, hidden room that could fit only four people, Casey said.

During the raid, police confiscated the alcohol, recovered two video slot machines and seized $2,800 in cash, according to Casey.

Eight other people were arrested for violating a local ordinance by illegally consuming alcohol.

School district commended for programs, efficiency

Old Bridge compared to four other districts in area in state study

BY NATALIE M. VENA
Staff Writer

OLD BRIDGE — The township's school district has received high marks from a state agency that provides consulting and management reviews to local governments at no cost.

The Local Government Budget Review (LGBR) program was created in New Jersey in 1994 by former Gov. Christie Whitman. The inception of the program marked the first time the state began working closely with towns to examine the cause and effect of rising costs on local governments. The mission of the program is to "help local governments and school boards find savings and efficiencies without compromising the delivery of services to the public," according to an LGBR spokesperson.

In order to conduct a comprehensive management review, the review team worked closely with both the educational community and the community at large.

"We are very pleased with the report and are proud that it validates our status as an efficiently run school district," said Daniel M. Rodriguez, superintendent of schools.

While comparing the general administrative salaries with central office salaries in four other districts, the study team discovered that Old Bridge was lowest in per pupil costs, and lower than the state and Middlesex County medians, according to the report. The comparison districts used in the study were Woodbridge, Piscataway, Edison and Middletown.

For administrators' salaries, Old Bridge falls in the middle of the comparison districts. However, it is lower than the New Jersey and Middlesex County averages, according to the report.

The LGBR commended the Old Bridge school district for actively pursuing several technology grants. It also cited the district for making a concentrated effort to provide technical training to its staff. That includes the training of several staff members who provide training for additional staff members during in-service days.

The district was also commended for providing training through the Middlesex County Educational Technology Training Center, located in the East Brunswick school district.

The LGBR recognized the district for instituting new measures affecting cost and service delivery.

For example, the district is using a live television broadcast to present information to the staff about the affirmative action program. The district is also part of the Cooperative Satellite Learning Project, through which Allied Signals Technical Services Corp. and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration work with nine schools nationwide encouraging students to pursue careers in science, engineering, mathematics and the space industry.

The district has also worked on communications initiatives which will enable it to trade information with all parts of the community.

Programs at the district's two middle schools help to motivate students to participate in after-school activities, the report stated.

Special programs involving use of planetariums are available to middle school students as well as elementary students, who are transported to the schools to participate.

To help create a positive school environment, a peer leadership program was instituted by the school and includes training activities in conflict resolution and peer mediation.

The LGBR also stated that the district has a "sound approach" when it comes to its hiring policies. It specifically cited policies that limited granting experience credit to new instruction staff for a maximum of three years, with exceptions for teaching areas where applicant shortages might exist. That approach, the LGBR stated, is "one that attempts to avoid excessive salary costs while permitting flexibility in difficult employment areas."

Officials: Shared services are a way of saving money

Board member wants voters to consider that in voting on referendum

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — The Board of Education and the Borough Council are working together in order to save taxpayers money.

At last week's school board meeting, the board approved a request to share its truck to help the borough pick up residents' "white goods" for disposal, in exchange for the borough's sweeping out the schools' parking lots regularly, according to Board of Education member Arthur Rittenhouse.

Refrigerators, washing machines and dryers are examples of white goods, which officials said are too large for the trucks the borough is currently using.

Interlocal agreements, such as this one, help cut down on costs to the borough. In this case, the borough doesn't have to pay for a new truck and the board doesn't have to pay for a sweeping service.

These agreements often fall under a state tax-credit program called the Regional Efficiency Aid Program (REAP). Through REAP, the borough receives credit for trying to reduce costs by implementing regionalization, Rittenhouse said.

Another example of an interlocal agreement in the borough is in the bidding for maintenance services used for the borough's and school districts' lawns. One company bids for the maintenance of all the grounds, and this shared bid saves money for both the borough and the school board.

According to Wayne Kronowski, the borough's business administrator, the borough has received a tax credit of $152,923 — which averages to $12.78 in savings to the average homeowner. This amount was based on money that was saved last year, Kronowski said.

Rittenhouse said he believes many residents are unaware of the school board's role in the interlocal agreements. Many of the programs are initiated by the board, Rittenhouse said, however, since all the money goes back to the borough, the municipality is the only agency that receives credit for helping residents save money on their taxes.

"We're looking for more publicity from the borough," he said.

Rittenhouse said school officials are hoping residents will realize the board, as well as the council, has saved them money, and that they will take that into account when voting on the December referendum, which will ask voters to approve the construction of an upper-elementary school. The new school, officials said, would help alleviate overcrowding in the elementary and middle schools by moving the fifth and sixth grades to the new school. The cost of the new school is presently unknown, but a state grant may cover about 40 percent of the cost, according to school officials.

At Monday's council meeting, a borough resident raised concern that the date of the school referendum comes after a borough referendum asking voters to approve a community center. The borough's referendum, scheduled to take place during the November general election, asks voters to approve a $15-million community center.

The resident told the council he believes voters will not want to approve that much spending, and said he feels that having a new school should be the top priority.

Sides debate bill's purpose

BY KATHY BARATTA
Staff Writer

LAKEWOOD — State Sen. Robert Singer (R-30) has introduced a bill that would prohibit zoning changes from being made on properties for which applications have already been deemed complete.

Singer, who is a member of the Lakewood Township Committee, said his purpose in developing the legislation was to protect an individual who submits an application to a planning board only to have a municipal government change the zoning on the property that renders his planned use illegal.

He said the bill was developed to protect "the little guy, not developers."

"This bill will protect the person who bought a piece of land in a commercial zone who maybe wants to put up a gas station, but when he goes to obtain the necessary approvals he finds out the zoning is going to be changed, and he can no longer operate a business there now," Singer said.

According to the language of the bill Singer proposes, the bill would modify the "time of decision" rule which currently allows municipal officials to change zoning regulations during the time an application for development is pending.

"Local officials should be able to zone any way they want to," he said. "What they shouldn't be able to do is change zoning because they decide they don't like a certain application."

Singer said the bill does not seek to undermine municipal sovereignty and said local officials would still be able to set their own zoning standards according to their approved master plans.

The bill has been approved in the state

Assembly (46-17, with two abstentions and 15 members not voting) and now awaits state Senate approval, according to John Moran, a legislative analyst with the New Jersey League of Municipalities.

In recent weeks one local official has publicly stated his opposition to Singer's proposal. Jackson Mayor Joseph Grisanti called the proposal "pro-developer" and said he fears it will have a detrimental effect on towns by taking away some zoning and planning abilities.

"This bill undermines all our efforts and everything we're trying to do here" in terms of controlling development, Grisanti said. "I can't understand why Sen. Singer would sponsor a bill like this. It's definitely a pro-developer bill, and it will affect Jackson in a very negative way."

A letter from the New Jersey State League of Municipalities to mayors states that this legislation "would make a drastic change by providing that protection for a developer from the time that the application is deemed complete ... and which is before any public hearing or decision on the merits of the application. That immunity would exist even where a community was in the process of its master plan review, and was considering zoning changes as part of that review. It would exist when a governing body realized it needed to close a loophole or correct and error. It would exist at the expense of the public interest."

League of Municipalities administrators are encouraging municipal officials to contact the members of the Senate Community Affairs Committee to express their concerns with the bill.

BLOOD IN YOUR EYE

Blood in the white of the eye is a fairly common occurrence, known as subconjunctival hemorrhage. This is the result of a ruptured blood vessel. The rupture most often occurs due to a buildup in blood pressure associated with coughing, laughing or straining. While this leakage of blood usually occurs in older adults, younger people can also experience subconjunctival hemorrhages if they laugh, sneeze or vomit with unusual vigor. The blood vessels in the eye are not more fragile than elsewhere in the body. However, the results are more noticeable in the whites of the eye. As bad as it looks, the hemorrhage is usually harmless and affects only the surface of the eye and not its function.

At Atlantic Medical Eye Care, we care for every patient with concern and compassion. We understand that your vision is one of your greatest gifts and prized possessions. We provide total eye care, which includes performing comprehensive medical eye examinations, prescribing corrective lenses, diagnosing injuries and disorders of the eye, and using the appropriate medical and surgical procedures necessary for treatment. We're located at 3 Hospital Plaza, Suite 310, in Old Bridge. Please call (732) 607-0555 to schedule an appointment. I am on the Board of Governors of the New Jersey Academy of Ophthalmology. We accept Medicare, Aetna/US Healthcare, Horizon Blue Cross Blue Shield, Cigna, Oxford, PHS, GHI, Qualcare, Magnacare, AmeriHealth and most other insurance plans. Log onto my website at www.njlasikmd.com.

P.S. In some cases, subconjunctival hemorrhages can be indicative of more serious conditions, such as high blood pressure or an excess dose of blood thinner.

on the police department's objection to the renewal of the liquor license on July 12 before the mayor and council. At the hearing, his legal counsel, Edwin Landis, said that Leppig knew of a purchaser for the license and the bar. However, Leppig failed to produce a copy of the contract of sale for the council and refused to identify the proposed purchaser.

The council's resolution states that it was for those reasons that the application for renewal of the liquor license for 2001-02 was denied and shall not be renewed.

The Malibu Inn was closed for business this week, and Leppig could not be reached for comment.

Opinion

Our View

Active pursuit of farmland preservation is warranted

It is with mixed feelings that we find out an application for state farmland preservation on a 12.5-acre Old Bridge property is the first such submission from that township.

Like much of Middlesex County, the township has been using a variety of means to acquire open space, including collecting an open space tax for the purchase of vacant land. But it's a shame that a town as large as Old Bridge has had no involvement in the state's Farmland Preservation Program to this point.

To date, only 21 farms in the county have been preserved, for a total of 3,158 acres. But the rest of the state has managed to preserve 563 farms for some 77,453 acres, since the farmland preservation program was introduced.

It's true that much of Middlesex County was already developed by the time the program took flight during the 1980s, but it would be nice to have seen more farmers from our neck of the woods jump on the bandwagon.

Farmers can't be blamed for this — their compensation for entering the farmland preservation program is far less than that which they can get from a developer eyeing their farm for perhaps tens of millions of dollars in houses. By entering the program, farmers get only what an independent appraiser says their land is worth. If their farm is accepted, the state, county and municipality pay the farmer in turn for a guarantee that the land will never be used for anything other than agricultural purposes.

If open space is what a community seeks, then this program is indeed something that should be pursued. While the town and county will have to pitch in for a portion of the cost to buy the farm's development rights, the state picks up between 60 and 80 percent of the tab.

Local officials should not sit back and wait for farms to suddenly join the program. It's up to them to advocate for such an endeavor, especially those many officials who were elected on platforms that included open space preservation.

Municipal officials can follow the examples of those towns leading the way in achieving farmland preservation by forming committees to take inventory of the remaining farms in their communities and decide which properties are best to pursue — perhaps the largest properties or those in rural areas that are best left free from development. They can then notify those landowners about the program and encourage submission.

Tools exist to ease suburban sprawl

Guest Column

John I. Rigolizzo Jr.

As we head toward the November elections, suburban sprawl has already staked a claim as a front-burner issue. Homeowners worry about it. Elected officials, from the municipal level all the way up to the Statehouse, debate how to stop it. Farmers have mixed feelings about it, wondering whether we can control sprawl without drastically reducing land values and the rights of private property owners.

Solutions for stopping suburban sprawl are complex. One perfect plan to stop sprawl-type overdevelopment of New Jersey's rural and suburban communities does not exist. However, there are tools at our disposal to help direct the growth into appropriate areas while respecting the rights of those who own the land.

For example, the state Planning Commission readopted the New Jersey State Development and Redevelopment Plan (SDRP) earlier this year. This document contains many references to planning and zoning tools. The plan supports the viability of the farming industry as well as preserving open space for both recreation and agriculture.

Additionally, New Jersey already has one of the most aggressive land preservation programs in the nation. Both the Farmland Preservation and Green Acres programs aim to preserve a combined 1 million acres of New Jersey's open space and farmland by the year 2010. With each acquisition (whether it's an outright purchase of the land or simply the purchase of development rights), we come one step closer to reaching our goal and protect one more precious piece of open space from development.

Working together to find creative solutions that work for each community is the great task before us. But before gubernatorial candidates and those running for the Legislature rush headlong to seek a magic formula, they need to know that there is no "one-size-fits-all" approach that will work from High Point to Cape May.

They also must understand that tools exist to curb sprawl, preserve New Jersey's farmland and protect the rights of those who own open space — goals each of us should strive for.

With vision and a sense of fair play, we can make those tools work in each of New Jersey's unique communities.

John I. Rigolizzo Jr. is president of the New Jersey Farm Bureau

Sayreville resident is grateful for return of American flag

Thank you for printing my letter in the July 19 issue of the Suburban. The American flag that was stolen from my home sometime between July 7 and 8 was very surprisingly returned to my home today.

Edward O'Hare, a gentleman who lives around the corner from me, found a flag draped over a parked car near his home that weekend. He took it home, dried it out and tried to locate its owner. He read my letter in your newspaper this week, and this morning he came to my home to see if I was the missing flag's owner.

It was my flag that he had found, and it has now been returned to its rightful position on the flagpole in front of my home.

Thank you so much, Mr. O'Hare, for your thoughtfulness and honesty, and thank you, Suburban editor, for printing my letter.

Sayreville youth succeeds in nat'l competition

Bianca Siriday, teacher take home awards from contest in Orlando, Fla.

BY JENNIFER DOME
Staff Writer

SAYREVILLE — Twelve-year-old Bianca Siriday has returned from Orlando, Fla., where she competed earlier this month at the American Dance Awards.

During the competition, Bianca, a borough resident, won for having the overall highest score for her solo piece "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Her teacher, Gina Forcella, also won the first-place prize for the choreography of that same dance.

Bianca competed with 33 other candidates in the ages 9-12 category. While there, she won a special award of $250 for "Absolutely Amazing."

During the week, Bianca attended classes where she was judged on her performance. The scores of each class went toward the main title, for which she placed within the top 10.

Throughout the competition, she performed a total of three solo pieces, all choreographed by Forcella, who is the owner of the Dance Stop studio, Sayreville, where Bianca has been taking classes since she was 4 years old.

The pieces consisted of two lyrical dances, one set to the song "There Is a Place," another to "You'll Never Walk Alone." The latter earned her the highest score for which she took home a 3-foot-high trophy, her mother, Laurie, said. The third piece was a jazz dance with a Spanish flavor titled "Havana."

Bianca now has a number of awards in her possession, including the titles of Miss Junior Stars of Tomorrow, Miss Junior Star Bound, and the crown for the Miss United States Tournament of Dance.

"The contest in Florida is one of the most competitive," Forcella said before the competition. "This is a prestigious title to own."

Bianca also attended the American Dance Awards when she was 9. This made her one of the youngest competitors in the ages 9-12 category.

Her mother felt that this time Bianca had more confidence.

The best part of the 10 days she spent in Florida, Bianca said, was the title competition.

"I made a lot of new friends," she said.

And as for her first airplane flight, it wasn't what she expected.

"It was kind of boring," Bianca said.

The week after the American Dance Awards in Orlando, Bianca went to the Starbound competition in Atlantic City. She won the highest score for the solo performance of "Havana," awarding her another $250. She also won $100 for second place for her lyrical dance to "There Is a Place."

The junior group that Bianca dances in also won the first runner-up prize during the Starbound competition. Their piece, "Praise the King," won various awards and was featured in the competition's showcase in which girls of all ages competed.

Barber remembers a different Matawan

At 84, Ted Daloia has no intention of turning in his shears

MATAWAN — Ted Daloia remembers a different Matawan.

Daloia, who has spent nearly the past 50 years cutting hair and swapping stories with his customers in Teddy's Barber Shop, 54 Main St., has called Matawan home since he was born 84 years ago.

"I grew up in Matawan, and I learned the business in Matawan," said Daloia.

Daloia has fond recollections of how he got his start working in a barbershop on Main Street at about 13 years old.

"My grandmother dragged me down there by the ear and said, 'Give him a job because I don't want him hanging out on the street,'" recalled Daloia.

"I tried to quit a couple of times, but she always chased me back," he added.

Eventually Daloia grew to like the business and decided to train as a barber, spending some time in a Keyport shop when some of the regulars in the shop where he had apprenticed on Main Street thought he was too young to cut their hair.

The training he received and the traditions he learned working around the Bayshore as a young apprentice shape the way Daloia does things even today.

"I learned to give halfway decent haircuts, and that is what I still give today," said Daloia, noting that he does not go in for any of the "fancy stuff" or longer hair styles popular with younger generations.

Nephew Jim Daloia, of Shamong Township in Burlington County, recalled how in his day, going to Matawan High School in the age of long hair in the 1960s, if you went for a haircut at Teddy's, you would be in for it in school the next day.

"You know that if you went to Teddy's, you were getting a short haircut, something really traditional," said the nephew.

According to Daloia, that period of time is when he started to see a real difference from his days as a young man.

"In my time, if you had a date with a girl, you went to the barber and got your hair cut and combed with tonic so you would look neat," he said.

Daloia noted that during the good old days, his shop, which is set to officially turn 50 this September, was a gathering place for the men of the community.

"Years ago they would come in here; before and after they got a haircut they would hang around and tell jokes and talk sports," Ted recalled, noting that type of customer was a rarity today.

"It was part of the experience, and people loved to wait here, but today people don't want to wait," he said. "Guys used to take about horse racing, sports, politics, you name it. Today all they talk about is taxes."

Back in the days when the shop was a gathering place, Daloia used to set up a bar with whiskey and soda for his customers' enjoyment during the holidays.

days. "These days you would probably get arrested for something like that," he said. "It was just a different world then. Matawan was a small community where everyone knew everybody else's name."

Despite the changes in the community and the changes in how men wear their hair, Teddy's Barber Shop has its fair share of regulars who are loyal to the traditional haircuts they get week after week.

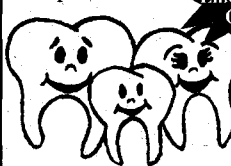

"I have one guy who has been coming to me every two weeks for 55 years to get the same haircut," said Ted.

"A lot of the customers have been going to me for years and don't want to go anywhere else," Daloia said, noting that he has no intentions of retiring any time soon.

"As long as I can see straight and my hands are steady, I'll keep doing what I do," he said.

The history of a ship's namesake, home port

BY ELAINE VAN DEVELDE
Staff Writer

She's a grand old ship. Her mission is her name. She's the USS Supply, the Navy's largest combat logistics ship. She was decommissioned at 10 a.m. July 13. Still, she's doing as she's always done, just with a different crew.

Remaining at Naval Weapons Station Earle, Leonardo section of Middletown, the USS Supply will continue to supply the fleet. "It'll be what's referred to as a hot transfer," said Earle Public Information Officer Nancy Eldridge. "It's business as usual for the ship. It keeps going but just changes command" with the ship's captain Robert S. Warner at the helm of the ceremony.

What it all means is that after July 13, the USS Supply's mission is accomplished under the umbrella of the Military Sealift Command, still an arm of the U.S.

REGIONAL INTEREST

Department of Defense.

From now on, the ship will be called the USNS Supply (United States Naval Ship Supply). While there will be a small military detachment aboard the vessel, the switch to Military Sealift Command management means that the bulk of the crew will comprise civilians now.

This may be the second in a series of changes setting sail at Earle Naval Weapons Station, but Navy officials promise the mission of the historic port won't change and neither will that of the ship. Though the Supply name has seen quite a history of diverse distinction. This USS Supply is the fourth ship to bear the name.

According to Eldridge, the first Supply supported Commodore Perry's forces during the Mexican American War and the Union's operations in the Civil War.

The second Supply was in the Spanish American War and after being recommissioned, fired the first shot by U.S. forces in World War I. During World War II, a third Supply served as an aviation support ship.

Last, the Supply was commissioned in San Diego, Calif., in 1994 and brought to its then home port in Norfolk, Va., where, ironically, the USS Seattle was just sent last month. In 1996, the Supply was first deployed to the Mediterranean Sea and the Persian Gulf. Her home port was then changed to Earle, the port from which she made other deployments in 1998 and 2000 and supported battle groups, Eldridge added.

A 753-foot, 48,500-long-ton fast combat support ship, the current USS Supply is specially constructed to keep pace with carrier battle groups. The ship is also equipped with all the essential armament. In order to expeditiously carry out its mission of replenishing Navy task forces with a capacity to carry more than 250 tons of refrigerated stores, 500 tons of dry stores, is ready to help with your worries and concerns about getting a mammogram. They'll also make sure you get the best care using state-of-the-art equipment that's custom designed to adjust to the density of individual breast tissue, while maintaining superior image quality. HEADING FOR TROUBLE?

Consider the way the birthing process is usually conducted. Most mothers-to-be lie on their backs on delivery tables. This positioning works against gravity and reduces the size of the pelvic opening. As a result the attending physician must pull harder on the head of the infant. The exertion of pulling and twisting forces upon the delicate tissues of the child only invites birth trauma and subluxation. In the simplest terms, a subluxation occurs when one or more bones of the spine move out of position and exert pressure upon or irritate spinal nerves. The resultant nerve interference may well be the source of numerous problems later in life. For this reason alone, children can benefit from a chiropractic examination.

Children usually respond quickly to light adjustments and other chiropractic care. At DE LUCA FAMILY CHIROPRACTIC, PA, we work with the spine, not necessarily because it's the source of neck and back pain, but because it houses and protects the central nervous system -- that system which monitors, controls and regulates all body function, allowing the body to adapt to its environment, both internal and external. We're located at 3384 Highway 9 South, Old Bridge, where we're currently accepting new patients. Please call (732) 679-2414 to schedule an appointment. Most insurance accepted.

P.S. Many experts suggest that the birthing position of choice is to have the mother-to-be in an upright position, either sitting or squatting.

2,150 tons of ammunition and 177,000 barrels of oil.

In port, the USS Supply's appearance is majestically overwhelming. In carrying out her mission, she "gets petroleum products, ammunition and stores from shuttle ships and redistributes these items simultaneously to carrier battle group ships," Eldridge added.

There are two methods of replenishment employed to get the supplies from ship to ship vertical and connected. As Eldridge explained, "Two helicopters assigned to the ship transfer loads to customer ships while connected replenishment systems spanning to two ships allow for transfer of fuel and pallets between them."

But more consistent than the name of a ship is the mission of Earle. It all started in 1943 when the need for an ammunition depot near New York City became prevalent to support World War II efforts.

It was soon determined by a Department of Defense panel that the present Earle site was best because of its location. The present pier in Leonardo was deemed safest and "operationally advantageous," as ready access to the commercial rail and lines that navigated from the west where most ammunition shipments came from, according to a historical account. The site was also far enough from the general population to not create any safety hazard.

Originally dubbed Naval Ammunition Depot Earle, upon its construction in August 1943, the facility was named after Rear Admiral Ralph Earle, who was the chief of the Bureau of Ordnance in World War I.

A military road and railway were built connecting the complex in Colts Neck to the waterfront and pier, which is a total of 2.9 miles long, 2.2 miles of which extend into Sandy Hook Bay. The ammunition depot pier was ready for use in December 1943.

In 1974 the official name of Earle was changed from Naval Ammunition Depot to Naval Weapons Station Earle. The name change was to be a reflection of the Navy's evolving needs in the post-WW II era.

Earle is still connected from its 10,000-acre main-side facility in Colts Neck to its waterfront station in Leonardo by a 15-mile military road and rail line called Normandy Road. Colts Neck houses the bulk of Earle's departments and facilities, including military housing.

The pier in Leonardo "provides ammunition for nearly every class of ship operated by the U.S. Navy and Coast Guard as well as commercial vessels from other countries," according to the literature.

CHIROPRACTIC CARE FOR BROKEN LEGS AND HIP AFTER A CAR ACCIDENT? No!

Peter is an actual chiropractic patient that was in a serious car accident. He suffered a broken pelvis and two broken legs. After surgery and time to heal, he was left with chronic pain. He thought he would have to live with the pain, until he started chiropractic care. He found out that his spine was extremely misaligned from the accident. He had no idea that chiropractic could ease the chronic pain and poor health he was experiencing.

Chiropractic Adjustments to Restore Normal Spinal and Nerve System Function? YES

Chiropractic helps chronic pain and poor health by removing spinal stress to the nerve system. Even the slightest slip or fall can cause spinal imbalance and nerve dysfunction.

Annual weekend means party, reunion for Jennings sisters

Sisters, who grew up in Milltown and Pa., partied in Monroe last weekend

BY CELINE HAGAN
Correspondent

MONROE — They're not nuns, but for Trudy Belotti, Earlene Kostek, Ruth Smith, Laura Proper, Donna Lee Higdon, Linda Kacer and Cindy Rickard, the third weekend in July is Sisters Weekend.

The weekend is all about friends, family and, of course, a fabulous party.

The tradition stems from years ago when the sisters' father, Edgar Jennings, would have a big clambake every year on his property in Scranton, Pa.

"We would go days before. Everyone would set up tents, sleep in the back of pick-up trucks. Like a campground," said Smith, who is among the older of the sisters.

With their father's death, the clambake tradition unfortunately died as well.

In July 1996, the sisters convened at the wedding of Belotti's daughter. They enjoyed seeing everyone together again so much that they decided to have an annual party to celebrate their appreciation for one another.

And the Sisters Weekend tradition began.

The sisters are all between the ages of 40 and 65, but as Smith said, "We are all young at heart and that is all that matters."

Take away the tents and pick-up trucks from the clambake days. Add thematic parties, murder mysteries and a gift exchange, and the result is Sisters Weekend. Held by sisters and attended by sisters, the weekend is like Christmas in July.

"When I apply for a job, I always tell them, 'I don't work the third weekend in July,'" Higdon said.

The parties each feature a different hostess and a new theme, thus keeping the excitement for each year's gathering constant.

This year's festivities featured a Hawaiian luau, held at Belotti's nursery and home on Buckelew Avenue in Monroe last weekend. The girls arrived last Thursday and the festivities began. For Saturday's luau, Higdon and Kacer provided the activities, such as a scavenger hunt, limbo, hula dancing (with lessons from Smith's husband, Melvin), flying airplanes, volleyball and the annual gift exchange.

Belotti's back yard showcased a pool and deck area decorated with tropical ornaments. Wooden parrots held napkins, wax lotus flowers floated in the pool, and a tiki bar complete with a grass roof stood adjacent to the pool.

Each sister brought what she had to add to the ambiance. Blue, grass-like umbrellas shaded buffet tables draped with Hawaiian-print tablecloths, tiki torches burned and small beverage umbrellas stood in everyone's glass.

The sisters are from a family of 11. Originating in Scranton, Pa., and moving to Milltown in 1953, some of them have fond memories of New Jersey.

Currently, the sisters all live in the tri-state area, with the exception of Smith, who is traveling across the country in a mobile home.

Only a few of the sisters see each other consistently, so the weekend is time away from their individual families and the best chance to enjoy one another's company.

The girls like to call themselves a family of friends. Sibling rivalry always existed, but sharing was essential in their close-knit family life as children.

"If there was a toy, we shared it because that was all there was," Smith said. With nine girls and two boys — and only one bathroom — the sharing was infinitely magnified.

"We are all very different, but we have one thing in common," she added. "We love each other."

Police Beat

All items in Police Beat are taken from police department records. All suspects are presumed innocent until found guilty in court.

OLD BRIDGE

A Jaime Court resident reported criminal mischief that occurred between noon on July 15 and 10 p.m. on July 21. Unknown suspects broke the door jam on a front storm door of the residence and entered. They ransacked dressers in the master bedroom of the home, according to the police report. When the residents attempted to call the police after returning home, they discovered the phone lines were dead, after apparently being cut by the suspects, which caused the alarm to become disabled. According to the police, nothing was stolen from the residence.

Police arrested Jacob Lazare Jr., 39, and James F. Julian, 42, both from the Cliffwood Beach section, at 4:22 p.m. on July 20. Both men were arrested on Pacific Avenue. Lazare was charged with being a disorderly person, possession of a weapon for unlawful purposes and criminal mischief. Julian was charged with being a disorderly person and possession of a weapon for unlawful purposes. Police responded to Pacific Avenue in response to a report of a fight between two males with weapons. Police arrived at the scene and reportedly observed Julian holding a machete in a defensive stance in the middle of the street. Lazare was also holding a hammer in a defensive stance, and both Lazare's vehicle and Julian's vehicle were in the middle of the road facing each other, according to the police. Police said they arrived at the scene, drew their weapons on the subjects, and ordered them to drop their weapons and to get down on the ground. Police then handcuffed the subjects and transported them to police headquarters for processing. Both men were held in lieu of $5,000 bail, according to police reports.

SAYREVILLE

A resident of Parlin reported fraudulent use of a credit card on July 23. An unknown suspect used the credit card to purchase a computer, worth $2,042, and ship it to Florida, according to police. The order, placed at Best Buy, was canceled. Police are investigating.

A bicycle was stolen from a Hinton Street property between 3:30 and 4:15 p.m. on July 22. The black Pacific bicycle, worth $120, belongs to a resident of McArthur Avenue.

Police reported illegal dumping on July 22 at Miller Industries, Ernston Road. According to the report, a large amount of debris, including large concrete blocks, garbage bags and other assorted items, was left at the site. No vehicle description or suspects are known, and police are continuing the investigation.

Punches were exchanged when a fight between two residents of Winding Woods Road escalated on July 21. No arrests were made, and police informed the residents of their right to sign complaints with the court.

A license plate was stolen from a 1987 Nissan on July 2. The car was parked in the lot by Building 16, Winding Woods Road. Police were unable to enter the license plate number into the system because the plates had been expired for more than a year. No suspects are known, and police are continuing to investigate.

A purse was stolen from a car parked at West Marine, Patton Drive, on July 20. The theft occurred between noon and 4 p.m. Police believe the unknown suspect may have taken the purse by entering through the car window, which was cracked open to allow for ventilation, according to a police report. A cellular phone, credit cards and a social security card were inside the purse. The car had no visible damage. Police are continuing the investigation.

Two adults and five children were found living in the basement of the foreclosed Homesteps Asset Bank, McArthur Avenue, on June 15. The complainants obtained an eviction notice for the suspects, but they refused to leave unless the bank gave them $1,400 and a place to store their property. The complainants returned to inspect the property and found the furniture from the bank upstairs being used by the suspects in the basement. The suspects reportedly refused to leave again, and the complainants filed a report at police headquarters. Police are investigating.

EAST BRUNSWICK

Police arrested a Jackson man and charged him with possession of a stolen van, resisting arrest and having outstanding warrants. According to police, Jamell China, 18, was arrested around 8:30 a.m. on July 21 after police officer Michael Knoll responded to a call at the Summerhill Village apartments on Cranbury Road. The call was about a suspicious male asleep in a van. Knoll awoke the male who stated that he had no identification. A check of the GMC van's New York-registered license plates revealed it was allegedly stolen from Jackson on July 20. It was also learned that China was wanted by Jackson police for sexual assault. When told he was under arrest, China allegedly resisted violently, and it took three officers to get him into handcuffs, according to police. He was charged with possession of a stolen motor vehicle and resisting arrest. Bail was set at $25,000, and China was turned over to the Jackson police.

Pillari Bros. contracting of Farmingdale reported that its property, known as Apple Ridge Estates, at Milltown Road and Harts Lane, was burglarized early Friday morning. The company reported that unknown person(s) cut the locks off a construction trailer and removed a stone stomper and a generator. The total value of the items was said to be more than $4,500, according to a police report. Also, a backhoe was started and moved away from the doors of the trailer. The backhoe was used to knock over a soda machine, which was then pried open and an unknown amount of change and dollar bills were taken, police said. An investigation is continuing.

Police arrested Tyrell Edwards, 29, of New Brunswick, and Jarbari Dukes, 23, Jamesburg, on July 19 and charged them with possession of crack cocaine and marijuana. The arrests occurred at Neilson Plaza bus lanes at Tower Center Plaza. According to police, Officer Robert Zielinski stopped a black 1996 Chevrolet for parking illegally and discharging a passenger in the bus lanes, according to police. The interior of the car allegedly smelled of burnt marijuana, and the driver, Edwards, had an open container of beer, police said. A search of the vehicle revealed a partially smoked marijuana cigarette and a small bag of suspected marijuana, police said. Nearly 10 ounces of crack cocaine, individually packaged, was reportedly located in a duffel bag. Each suspect was charged with possession of cocaine with intent to distribute and possession of marijuana. Each was lodged at the Middlesex County Adult Correction Center, North Brunswick, in lieu of $5,000 bail.

TOOTH TALK

Presented By Scott D. Lurie, D.M.D.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

With the exception of third molars ("wisdom teeth"), all lost teeth should be replaced as soon as possible. Aside from leaving unsightly gaps, missing teeth obviously have an adverse affect on the ability to chew. Just as importantly, missing teeth tend to throw the bite off balance, which leads to malocclusion ("bad bite"). This increases the likelihood of damage occurring to the remaining teeth. Malocclusion also increases the prospect of gum disease and may be a contributing factor to temporomandibular joint (TMJ) syndrome. Beyond these effects, there is the serious potential for misalignments of remaining teeth due to lack of support and restraint from missing teeth. These are all good reasons to see the dentist immediately after losing a tooth.

Disease or trauma that results in a lost tooth can have an impact on the entire mouth. Luckily, a prompt visit to the dentist can minimize the effects on the remaining teeth. If you are new to the area and do not have a family dentist or if it's been too long since your last visit to the dentist, we welcome your call at 613-4522, 125 State Highway 516, Old Bridge. Why not get to know us before an emergency strikes?

P.S. When teeth fail to meet resistance from corresponding teeth in the other jaw, they may over-erupt (meaning they grow out too far).

Union squad steals win at eighth annual Snapple Bowl

Scores game-tying touchdown on muffed field goal attempt

BY DOUG MCKENZIE
Staff Writer

On any given Sunday (or in this case Thursday), anything can happen. Just when you think you have a victory locked up and are poised to put the game away with one last offensive strike, disaster can strike and change the outcome of the game.

Such was the case with last Thursday's eighth annual Snapple Bowl played at East Brunswick High School, which pitted Middlesex County's top football stars against their counterparts from Union County.

For just about the entire game, the Middlesex squad was in control, making big plays against a Union defense struggling to keep its team in the game. But with 24 seconds left on the clock, all of that dominance amounted to nothing.

Leading 16-10, the Middlesex squad was lined up for a 35-yard field goal in an attempt to give itself some insurance, and for all intents and purposes, the game. Players on both sidelines were congratulating themselves on a game well-played, almost certain that the final seconds were merely a formality.

Almost certain.

But somebody forgot to tell the Union County special teams squad that the game was over, because they kept playing hard, and as a result, made the impossible a reality.

As the ball was snapped, Union's Jasper Hankins broke through the line and pressured holder Sal Petruzzi (Spotswood) before the ball could be kicked.

The result was a fumble, which former Linden standout Brandon Bracey scooped up for the Union squad and raced 70 yards to score the dramatic, game-tying touchdown.

With 10 seconds left, Union's Steve Andriola kicked the extra point to complete the unlikely comeback.

It was a play that had players and coaches on both sides of the field shaking their heads, after what had been a hard-fought contest, though one without too many spectacular plays.

Middlesex got itself out to a 10-3 halftime lead on a 28-yard field goal from former Edison star Mike Tambini and a five-yard scoring scamper from Piscataway's Mike Pernell.

But Union stormed back to tie the game in the third quarter. That set up another Middlesex drive, which was capped by a 32-yard touchdown pass from Tambini to Jon Herres with 10:55 remaining in the game.

The Middlesex defense then did its job, stopping the Union offense cold on its next possession.

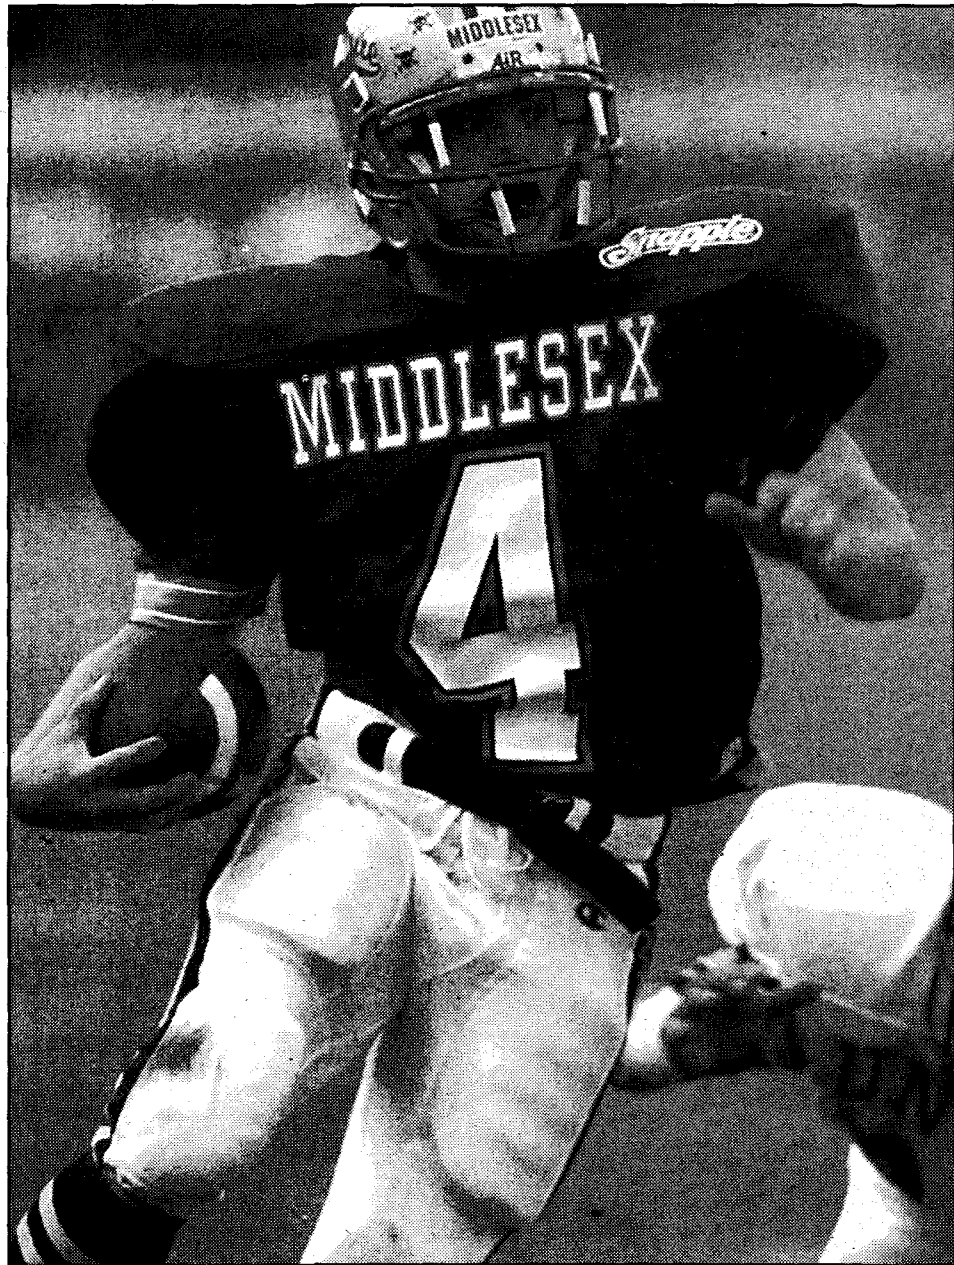

Middlesex took over on downs, realizing that it simply needed to run out the clock to secure its fifth win in the eight-year history of the game. And it appeared as though they were well on their way to doing just that when they orchestrated a textbook, time-consuming drive that left them deep in Union's territory.

With 24 seconds left, Middlesex called time-out to set up what they thought would be the "icing on the cake." But Tambini never got the chance to put the game away, as the Union blitz caused Petruzzi to bobble the ball, which led to the fumble.

The defeat was a tough one to swallow for a Middlesex team that certainly played well enough to win. But freak plays happen, especially in games loaded with talented players.

When you match up a pair of teams filled with athletes who have been the best on their teams for their entire careers, they tend to look for their opportunity to stand out, even if there are only 24 seconds left on the clock.

The Union squad never gave up, to their credit, showing exactly the type of perseverance and desire it took to earn them their spots on the team in the first place.

Sayreville's Jimi Miller outruns a Union County defender at the Snapple Bowl at East Brunswick High School last Thursday night.

As for the Middlesex squad, they made one bad mistake at the most inopportune time. But that's the nature of the game — on any given day.

South Plainfield remains the Central Jersey Duals top team

27th Old Bridge
Wrestling Festival wraps up

BY DOUG MCKENZIE
Staff Writer

As the Central Jersey Duals wrapped up last week, with a familiar team walking away with the overall championship, wrestlers of all ages from throughout the area prepared for the final weekend of the 27th Annual Old Bridge Wrestling Festival at Old Bridge Arena.

It was the South Plainfield Tigers who were the CJ Duals champs once again, a title they have never lost when competing. The Tigers knocked off South Brunswick 36-21 in the final match of the championship round robin to finish the week at a perfect 8-0.

The final match was never close, as South Plainfield jumped out to an early 18-3 lead before closing it out at 33-9. The Vikings got some points in the heavier weights, but it was too little, too late. The Tigers also knocked off Edison 49-9 in the round-robin finals to lock up the win.

South Brunswick, which handed South Plainfield its only loss last season, beat the host Old Bridge Knights 46-21 to earn the title match with South Plainfield. The Vikings and the Knights locked horns last season in what were some of the Greater Middlesex Conference's best matches, and it appears that this year will feature more of the same.

The Knights were impressive throughout the CJ Duals, and came back to knock off Edison 39-36 to lock up third place.

Last season, South Plainfield, South Brunswick and Old Bridge were the conference's top teams, and with a slew of quality wrestlers returning, along with an enthusiastic bunch of newcomers who made their presence felt last week, the upcoming season should be an interesting one with these three powerhouse teams.

Howell finished atop the Consolation Round A, knocking off Colonia (67-3) and East Brunswick (59-13) in the final day's action.

In Consolation Round B, it was Piscataway who finished on top after knocking off Pennsylvania's Penn-Trafford (40-15) and Sayreville (41-40).

Hunterdon Central took Consolation Round C after topping North Plainfield (23-22). However, South River posted a win over Hunterdon Central 33-23, after losing to Woodbridge (39-29).

In Consolation Round D, North Brunswick emerged victorious, knocking off Bayshore (22-13) and Bound Brook (41-9).

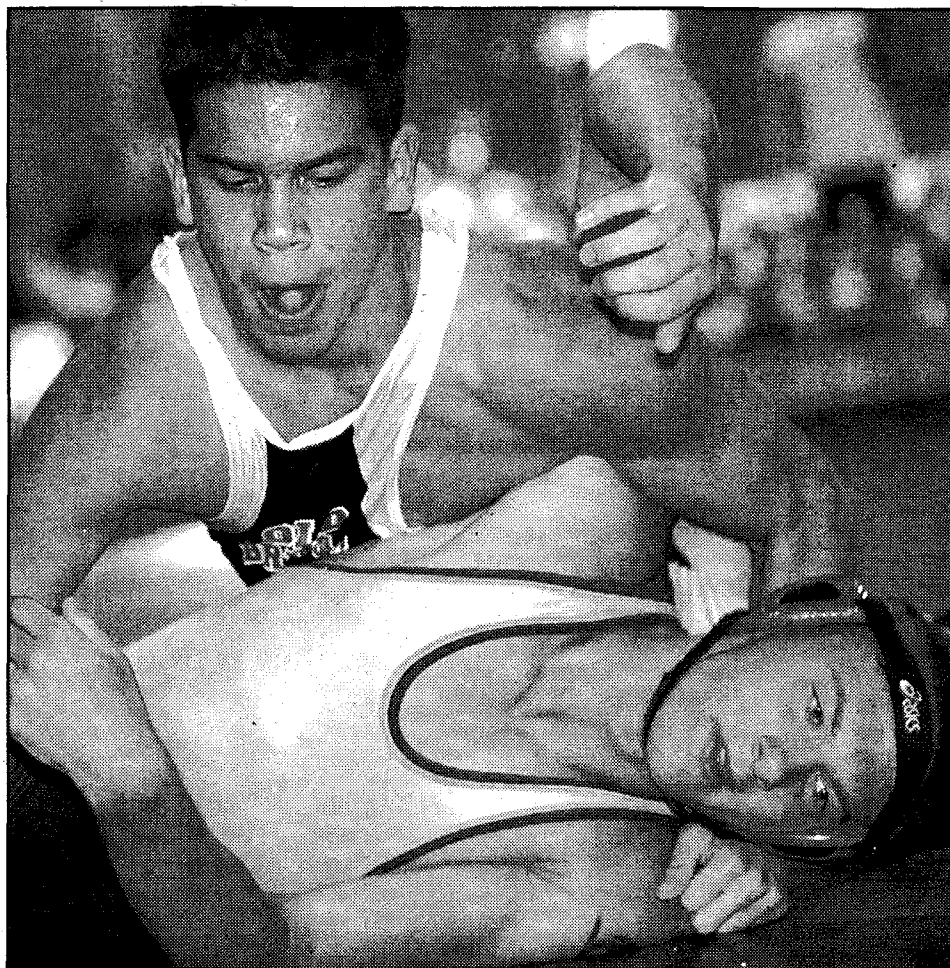

With the CJ Duals out of the way, it was back to the individual competitions Saturday and Sunday, with a number of local wrestlers earning top finishes. A total of 270 competitors wrestled Saturday, while another 152 took the mats Sunday, bringing the total for 2001 to 1,256 and the 27-year total to 21,803. The 1,256 wrestlers who participated this year represent the fifth highest total in the event's 27-year history.

Sayreville 14-year-olds win another District 10 title

First team from Sayreville Little League to win three district titles

BY WARREN RAPPLEYEA
Staff Writer

After winning the District 10 title, the Sayreville Little League Junior Division 13-14-year-old all stars finished its campaign on a disappointing note when it was eliminated from the Section III tournament.

It was, nevertheless, an exciting run for the Sayreville club. After losing to Old Bridge, 2-1, in the first game of District 10 play, Sayreville roared to life and plowed its way to the crown.

Coach Dan Ballard's team then defeated Woodbridge, Franklin Township and Metuchen to finish second in its division and advance to the final four. There, Sayreville had to defeat Old Bridge twice to win the championship.

After avenging the opening loss with a 12-5 win, Sayreville again met Old Bridge in the championship game.

Ballard's club responded with 11 runs on 16 hits and coasted to the title.

Mike Bujalkowski and Jeff Craig each had three hits, with Bujalkowski scoring four times and Craig driving home four runs.

With the win, the Sayreville squad made some history, becoming the first team from Sayreville Little League (established in 1952) to win the District 10 Championship as 10-year-olds, 12-year-olds, and now, 14-year-olds.

The win also propelled Sayreville into the District III tourney, where they opened against Howell. After scoring four runs in the top of the third inning to take a 4-1 lead, Sayreville yielded four in the bottom of the inning and the game remained 5-4 the rest of the way.

With its back to the wall in the double-elimination event, Sayreville had a defensive battle with East Windsor, which prevailed, 2-0.

Sayreville's solid pitching staff helped propel Ballard's club. Danny Louis was 2-0, while Tim Ballard went 1-1 with a save. Joey Bartlinski, Jason Fischer, Jared Mundy and Jeff Toth also saw action on the mound.

Bujalkowski led the team with a .429 batting average, with Toth right behind at .407, and catcher Rob Arvanites at an even .400. And, the team as a whole hit .315.

Other members of the team include outfielders Pat Hackett and Chris Castaldi, infielder/outfielders Robert Pietrocola and Kenny Lyons.

Despite the disappointment of falling in the sectional tournament, Ballard couldn't be prouder of the way his team played this season. His squad has had a tremendous run over the last few seasons, and the coach is sure that his boys have a lot of good baseball ahead of them.

"The boys played well, and it was exciting to see them come back in the District 10 tournament," coach Ballard said. "They just couldn't get the clutch hit in the Section III tournament, but they were close games."

Spotswood all-stars try to keep up their winning ways

BY RICHARD JEROME
Staff Writer

Years of playing side by side have made the Spotswood Lightning 12-year-old all-stars a smoothly efficient baseball team, as was demonstrated in its championship victory at the Hazlet Tournament.

The Lightning went 4-1 in the tourney, making it to the finals, where they defeated Hazlet (last year's state 11-year-old champ) in a hard-fought 4-2 contest.

"I've had most of these kids since they were 8 or 9," said Coach John Berner, whose squad is 12-5 overall in tournaments this summer. "We've been beating teams from larger towns with the help of good pitching and defense and timely hitting."

"The defense is the key," he added. "And our pitchers have to keep the ball down, because it can sometimes explode off those aluminum bats."

Some errant fielding put Spotswood in trouble against Hazlet. The Lightning had scored two runs in the second inning on a walk to third baseman Michael Turitto, hits by Danny and Michael Hohman (a pitcher-first baseman and leftfielder, respectively), and a groundout by second sacker Phil Spina.

Hazlet answered with two unearned runs in the top of the third, courtesy of two Spotswood errors.

But in the fifth frame Sean McSorley walked, centerfielder Garrett Andren singled, and then shortstop John Michael Berner (the coach's son) clinched the win with a two-run double.

"We got excellent pitching from our two aces," says Coach Berner, who is assisted by Dominick Turitto, Jim Beard and Jim McSorley.

"Danny gave up just the two unearned runs, and then Willie Beard (also a first sacker) came in and struck out four in the last three innings, including the last two batters with the tying runs on base. We never do things easy."

The Lightning lineup represents the best of the town's Little League squads. Aside from the aforementioned players, Anthony Addone is behind the plate, Kyle Winant plays outfield, Kyle Kolbasowski is a catcher-outfielder, Lee Snure sees some time in left field, Brian Spiegelhoff plays in right and Conor Wantuch is a second baseman-outfielder.

Beard has been the main power hitter, while John Michael Berner has displayed a knack for getting on base.

The Lightning have had a rather grueling summer, largely due to rainy weather rescheduling that caused several tournaments to overlap. At one point, they played three games in three different towns on the same day.

At present, Spotswood is competing in the Old Bridge and North Brunswick tourneys.

"Every one of our 14 kids has contributed," said a proud Berner, "whether it's with a timely hit, with the glove or on the mound."

And when everyone is doing his job, it makes winning a whole lot easier.

It's not all about seafood at new Milltown restaurant

BY LAUREN KUSHNER
Staff Writer

MILLTOWN — L'Amore Seafood, a French and continental restaurant, recently opened its doors on Ryders Lane.

But don't let the word seafood have you thinking that it's just a seafood restaurant. An array of dishes that range from seafood to beef are offered.

"There are about 12 chicken dishes, five veal dishes, filet mignon and steak dishes, and about 12 to 15 seafood items, plus the catch of the day," the restaurant's owner, Isaac Samwel, said.

Everything from the appetizers to the desserts are made to order on premises, Samwel said. The restaurant's pastry chef, Simon Michael, worked in a Paris hotel restaurant called Parade before coming here.

Samwel said his restaurant prides itself on putting in the time to make each individual dish perfect, and he feels that it's important for all of the foods to be made fresh.

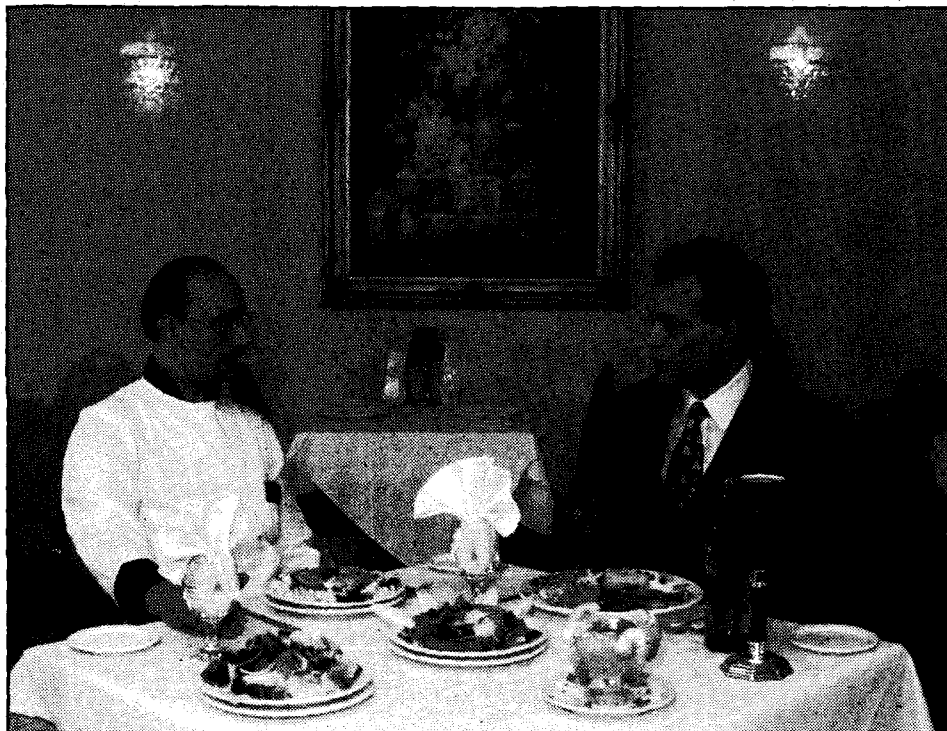

"Everything from the sauces to the garnishes are made fresh," he said.

Construction for the restaurant began in October.

"The total cost for building this place was about $300,000," Samwel said. "The bathrooms alone cost about $21,000 to build."

Samwel said that in the future he would like to obtain a liquor license so that the restaurant can stay open until 2 a.m. on weekends. At present, people are welcome to bring their own alcoholic beverages.

"By Christmas time, I would like to get the liquor license so that we could have some entertainment," Samwel said. The entertainment will include a variety of bands playing live music.

Samwel said he also plans on accommodating private parties for all occasions in the future.

"We offer our own professional video production and photography," Samwel said.

The restaurant's hours of operation are as follows: lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.; and dinner from 4-9 p.m. or 10 p.m., depending on business.

The Samwel family also owns Café L'Amore in Bergen County, which has been in business for seven years.
